

AFRIKA KOMMT!

An Initiative of German Industry for Future Leaders from Africa

203

Young Leaders

24

Countries

32

German Companies

While he participated in the programme Seth Miah supported the thyssenkrupp AG to open a regional office in Ghana. Today, Seth Miah works as a regional manager for West Africa and leads the regional office.

After her fellowship at Continental AG, the engineer Lucy Mutinda established the company Ecocycle Ltd. The company installs small sewage treatment plants from a German manufacturer and has currently more than 20 employees.

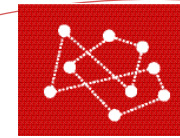

After his fellowship, Steve Maina from Kenya began his career as a manager at Merck KGaA. As a Director Group Strategy he is leading strategic projects in the core business.

Long term collaborations

Strong networks

Sustainable cooperations

10 years of experience

With their initiative AFRIKA KOMMT! leading German companies demonstrate their commitment to Africa since 2008: They offer young managers from Africa the chance to gain insights into their working processes and management methods. During the programme, both sides can forge important contacts for a sustained and successful economic cooperation.

New companies are welcome to join the initiative!

« Africa offers companies an important market potential. The right team on-site is crucial. AFRIKA KOMMT! offers an excellent opportunity to establish contacts with future managers from Africa.

Uwe Raschke, CEO, Robert Bosch GmbH

More information: www.afrika-kommt.de

Contact: afrika-kommt@giz.de